Dear Families,

Our first professional day is centered on: Community, Wellness, and Goals for Student Learning. This comes at the perfect time as classes are beginning to settle into routines, classroom communities are taking shape, and teachers are guiding students as develop agency for their learning and for the way they show citizenship at school. Communication is key to student success and we value the importance of all three stakeholders: Parents / Teachers / Students, working together throughout the year. It is important to keep the lines of communication open and respectful and to remain dedicated to working through situations as they arise with the best interests of the child at the center of the conversation. Ask curious questions, develop goals together, and support the work done at school and the work done at home. If you need to speak with your child’s teacher, please be sure to request an appointment time with them. We appreciate updates, as well, regarding anything that may impact your child’s success at school. Thank you!
